“The conference brought together community leaders and longtime builders of programs for poor youth. The dialogue about new possibilities for Chicago and all its people was very moving and valuable. The methodology of afterschool development has incredible depth and I think that was expressed at the conference.”

Afterschool plays a vital role in the development of Chicago’s youth. This one-day conference is a grassroots conversation between frontline practitioners, educators, thought leaders, and innovators.

Join us as we engage in dialogue, explore ideas and strategies, and collaborate on how to advance the afterschool movement in Chicago and nationally. The conference includes plenary panels, workshops, performance experiences, and a networking lunch.
